

Braybrook & Maidstone Neighbourhood House

1

The organisation is made up of residents who live in Braybrook, Maidstone and surrounding areas. It is committed to listening to and representing local people to build a proud community.

Ash Reserve, also known as Braybrook Reserve

2

Ash Reserve is a peaceful park tucked away inland from the bustling Ballarat Road. The inviting playground and barbecue makes it a great family spot for weekends on warm Summer evenings.

1950s house

3

Don't you love these reminders of 1950s Melbourne in Braybrook. The housing shortage of the 40s and 50s was addressed by the Housing Commission which operated from a large factory in Holmesglen.

Kinder Smith Reserve

4

This lovely green reserve offers a new playground with state of the art equipment for young children. The area also offers a new Greenworks Mural, RecWest YMCA activities and Sunshine Football Club.

Caroline Chisholm Catholic College

5

This popular co-educational Catholic secondary school offers many examples of contemporary architectural and educational art and design for the school community to enjoy.

Skewes Street Laneway Mural

6

As you walk along Skewes Street and through the lane way to the shops you'll be pleasantly surprised by this refreshing mural showcasing the creative expertise of some Melbourne artists.

Goodstart Early Learning Centre

7

Goodstart Braybrook staff strive to maintain the centre to high cleanliness and safety standards. It is a multicultural centre with bilingual staff.

Cao Đài Vietnamese Temple

8

Cao Dai is a new religious movement founded in Vietnam. It mixes ideas from other religions. It was officially established in the city of Tây Ninh, southern Vietnam in 1926.

Description

This neighbourhood loop walk takes in Braybrook and Maidstone Neighbourhood house and Cremorne Street, with its shady trees and abundant gardens.

See if you can spot the Bird of Paradise growing on the right as you walk towards Vine Street. Turn left then right to Ash Reserve and enjoy a moment of relaxation.

Cross the road and let the children run wild in the new playground. Walk around the oval if you have time. You'll love the new artwork and shop fronts you'll see on the way back!
